Yikes. The hotel is out of hot water. Is this what happens to folks who oversleep brunch?

Kudos to #HamptonInn. There was no hot water in my room this morning. They lived up to their motto. No charge. Thanks much.

My hairdresser is not going to be happy with the trimming I gave my bangs this morning. I need no distractions this evening.

Billfold and cell phone nice and chilled. Put in office refrigerator with my lunch this morning.
And, I needed to be extra-organized. I would be doing all this via a laptop with a tiny screen compared to my normal set-up of two monitors and a quiet office.
@corobek was to my left. He follows 5,000+ folks on Twitter so he had a fire hose of information coming in. He passed on a few wrong calls from the Wall Street Journal to me. It called both Pennsylvania and Michigan for Romney. These mistakes were quickly rescinded almost as though they hadn’t happened, but luckily we have some evidence.

It looks like Obama has secured a second-term. #nprmeetup

Romney is now essentially required to run Florida, Ohio, and Virginia, Nova Carolina, Iowa, and Colorado to win the WH.

The facts: Networks say Obama will win NH. It comes down to Mitt winning FLA, VA, NC, OH, AND either IA or CO.

A filibuster unlike any other...

On March 6th, at 11:47 am EST, Senator Rand Paul of the Commonwealth of Kentucky began speaking on the floor of the Senate chamber in Washington, DC. The chamber was in session preparing to vote on the nomination of John Brennan to the post of CIA Director when Sen. Paul Doesn't seem that Romney can win without Florida and Ohio, and those both appear to be going to Obama.

Mission Impossible? Romney Now Needs to take Florida, Ohio, Virginia, North Carolina, Iowa and Colorado to Win

Romney not ready to concede? Don't worry. He'll change his position on that too.

Romney saying he'll "concede in 15 to 60 min" is a touch more vague than saying he had "a victory speech of 1,118 words."
#soreloser

Sarah Palin, this is your chance to make a concession speech! Step up to the podium!
